

Cherry Hill Village District Newsletter

August
2026

Town Square Park construction resumed the week of July 20, with crews beginning work on the footings for the new restroom facility located just north of the Cherry Hill Schoolhouse. As construction progresses, a temporary fence has been installed between the park project and the Schoolhouse to enhance safety and clearly separate the work areas. We appreciate the community's patience and look forward to sharing more updates as the project moves toward completion.

The Factory Building is in its final stages of construction, with the finishing interior touches now complete and furnishings added throughout the space. Exterior landscaping, sod, outdoor lighting, and entry steps have also been completed, giving the property its finished look. We are excited to announce that an opening date will be shared soon, and we look forward to welcoming everyone to the new space.

The Village Arts Factory is entering an exciting new chapter!

The Partnership for the Arts & Humanities will continue to operate and maintain the building our community knows today as the Village Arts Factory. Moving forward, this historic space will be called Arts Warehouse at Cherry Hill—a name that honors its original use as a warehouse and gives the building a distinct identity of its own. Next door, renovations to the original Henry Ford factory building are nearly complete.

This beautiful, state-of-the-art community center will be known as The Factory and will be owned and operated by Canton Township. While the two buildings will be operated independently, they will serve as complementary spaces in the heart of Cherry Hill Village. The Partnership looks forward to bringing outstanding new community arts programs and events to The Factory while continuing to make Arts Warehouse at Cherry Hill a welcoming home for creativity.

Two historic buildings. Two distinct identities. One creative community.
